Guide To Buying A Flag

What size do I want?

Virtually any size flag is available. However, if you are flying the flag from a flagpole there are guidelines on what size flag should be flown on particular sized poles.

How will my flag be finished?

Depending on your flagpole type, the flag can be roped and toggled to suit a halyard system or sleeved and eyeletted for a flagpole with a swivel arm. Alternatively, Harrison's can simply hem or add eyelets to your flag based upon your requirements.

What shape flag do I require? Portrait or Landscape

Depends on what type of flagpole you have. If you have a swivel arm pole – you will require a portrait style flag. If you have a traditional style flagpole you will require a landscape flag.

How many flags do I want?

As with size – this is entirely upto yourself. All quantities can be produced.

What quality do I require? hand sewn or printed

There are 3 methods of flag production. High quality hand sewn flags, Screen printed flags and Digital printed flags.

Hand Sewn/Applique Flag

Higher quality of material is used (woven polyester with knitted polyester layering) – longer life expectancy than digital or screen printed flags – traditional method of creating a flag.

Screen Printed Flags

Same key benefits of Digital flags, however, are ideal for large volumes – economically priced – full colour imaging – unrestricted in range of colours – photo quality - ideal for flag quantities of 100+.

Digitally Printed Flags

Ideal for small quantities - full colour imaging – unrestricted in the range of colours - photo quality.

How can I prolong the life of my flag?

Anti fray is sewn onto the end of the flag during manufacturing. When the wind catches the flag the anti fray takes the force of the whip rather than the flag. Therefore, reduces the wear of the edge of the flag and pro longs the lifetime of your flag.
